

Issue 1 ~ 1 July 2009

This is the first issue of the Bulletin Express, an effort to connect with you the visitor of our website.

Did you know that updates and new items are posted regularly to the website? Just check under the Recent Additions and Updates link on the home page. We are currently starting to build church pages. Speaking of which we would like to introduce a photo challenge on the website and in the local papers, issuing a challenge of photographers to take pictures of stained glass windows to send in to us. Follow the link to get more details. We are excited to start this challenge and hope to get many pictures of these beautiful windows. Did you know that the courthouse clock is in the museum? Come for a visit and see what else we have.

June 18th, we had an open house. Every 3rd Wednesday, we have an open house or special speaker. Mark your calendars, they start at 3 p.m. and usually last an hour or so. Did you know that the museum will open by appointment if you have need to do research or want to have a meeting at the museum all you have to do is call or e-mail the museum to set up an appointment.

Regular hours are 10 a.m. to Noon and 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday
Have a safe 4th of July.

www.randolphcountyindianahistoricalsociety.org

Bulletin Express

of the Randolph County, Indiana Historical Society website

Survey Says....

Thanks for all those who submitted surveys. We had 9 for May and 4 for June. A July survey is now up for you.

Guest Book Signatures:

birthday gift

Feels like a visit home....PH DePoy

Let me know more about this. Just looking to see what I can see.

Tom Burch

RICHARD STOCKDALE PO BOX 231 ADAIRSVILLE GA.

barbara armstrong jean rehm

Mary and Dale Martin

Ruth Wood, ruthwood at arkansas.net.

Thanks for all the work you do.

rosemary sears

Tom Burch Roanoke Rapids, N.C.

Jason L. Bowsman

Jeannie Brown Groveland, FL researching:
Parkison and Golliher families

My name is Cindy Bost. My father's grandmother was Elizabeth Samantha Keever & her family lived in Randolph county a long time. Thank you for your beautiful museum.

Do you have a Brick Wall item to list? Are you working on a specific genealogy or history item that you like to list, just submit them through the Guest Book to appear in the next Bulletin Express issue.

The Randolph County 4-H Fair is July 18-23.